DALLAS, SATURDAY, JUNE 29.

The Poet and the Proof Reader

Ah! here it is! I'm famous now—
An author and a poet!
It really is in print! Ye gods!
How proud I'll be to show it!
And gentle Anna! What a thrill
Will animate her breast,
To read these ardent lines, and know,
To whom they are addressed.

Why, bless my soul! here's something strange
What can the paper mean
By talking of the graceful brooks
That gander o'er the green?
And here at a instead of r,
Which makes it tipping rill;
We'll seek the shade, instead of shade,
And hell, instead of hill.

They look so what? I recollect,
"Twas sweet and then 'twas kind,
And now to think the stupid fool
For bland has printed blind,
Was ever such provoking work!
'Tis curious by-the-by,
How any thing is rendered blind
By giving it an eye.

Hasn't thou no tears? the t's left out,
Hasn't thou no ears, instead,
I hope that thou art deaf, is put
I hope that thou art dead.
Who ever saw in such a space
So many blunders crammed?
Those gentle eyes bedimmed, is spelt
Those gentle eyes bedimmed.

The color of the rose, is nose;
Affection is affliction;
I won't or if the likeness holds
To fact as well as fiction?
Thou art a friend, the r is gone—
Who ever would have dreamed That such a trifling thing could change
A friend into a friend.

Thou art the same is rendered lame—
It really is too bad!
And here because an i is out
My lovely maid is mad!
They drove her blind by peking in An eye—a process new;
And now they've gouged it out again,
And made her crazy, too.

Let's stop and recapitulate:
I've damned her eyes, that's plain—I've told her she's a lunatic,
And blind, and deaf and lame.
Was ever such a horrid bash
In poetry or prose?
I've said she was a fiend, and praised
The color of her nose.

I wish I had that editor
About a half a minute;
I'd bang him to his heart's content,
And with an h begin it;
I'd jam his body, eyes and bones,
And spell it with a d.
And send him to that hill of his—
He spells it with an e.

Sunday Reading.

The wise fortify themselves by reason;
fools by despair.
As it sometimes rains when the sun is shining, so there may be joy in a saint's heart when there are tears in his eyes.

Those who are bound for heaven must be willing to stem against the storm; and must not do as the most do, but as the best do.

Mental pleasures never cloy; unlike those of the body, they are increased by repetition, approved by reflection and strengthened by enjoyment.

Always endeavor to learn something from the information of those thou con-versest with, and to put thy company upon those subjects they are best able to speak of.

I have always preferred cheerfulness to mirth. The latter I consider as an art, the former as a habit of the mind.
Mirth is short and transient; cheerfulness fixed and permanent. — Addison.

God loves to have us pray with earnestness. The best proof of earnestness is simplicity. Better in God's sight are the broken but heart-felt utterances of a mere child, than the high-sounding utterance of some who think themselves wonderful in prayer.

Ten minutes of weak repining will plunge a brave heart into the depths of unhappiness as suddenly as a thunderstorm will overcast a clear, summer sky.
The only way to live is to cast away trouble and contentions, which cannot be cured by fretting. A thing that is done belongs to the past. In justice to the requirements of the present, and possibilities of the future, you cannot look back and make yourself wretched over things which cannot be undone.

Time, the most precious of all possessions, is commonly the least prized. It is, like health, regretted when gone, but rarely improved when present.
We know it is irrecoverable, yet throw it wantonly away. We know it is fleet, yet fail to catch the current moment.
It is the space of life, and while we never properly occupy its limits, we nevertheless murmur at its narrowness.
It is the field of exertion, which we continually leave fallow—and yet sorrow over our stunted harvest.

The fact is, life is undervalued by a great majority of mankind. It is not made half as much of as should be the case. Where is the man or woman who accomplishes one tithe of what might be done? Who cannot look back upon opportunities lost, plans unachieved, thoughts crushed, aspirations unfulfilled and all caused by the lack of the necessary and possible effort? Now and then a man stands aside from the crowd, labors earnestly, steadfastly, confidently, and straightway becomes famous for greatness of some sort. The world wonders, admires, idolizes; yet it only illustrates what each may do if he takes hold of life with a purpose.

Facts and Fancies.

Never trust to time—Time will tell.
A grave subject—A body in a dissecting room.

Wise men learn more by fools than do fools by wise men.

A Spanish proverb says: One "I did" is worth two "I wish I had."

When women come to sit in the jury box, infants may become criers in court.

An artesian well is to be sold at auction—The purchaser to remove it.

Virginia, says the New York World reports Timothy as promising a good crop, but says nothing about Paul.

"Mr. Speaker, I straddle that blind," was the phrase in which a poker-playing Californian legislator seconded the motion.

The Poll Mall Gazette says of a certain Irish court, that it is never so sure to be wrong as when the judges are unanimous.

A fractious wife threw a bottle of hair renewer at her husband's head, at which he exclaimed "We must part, the dye is cast."

It has been decided, that when a man so far forgets himself as to bite off another individual's nose, he ought to be bound over to keep the piece.

"Leave you, my friend," said a tipsy fellow clinging to a lamp-post on a dark night; "leave you in a condition not to take care of yourself! Hic, never!"

Dick pays no compliments to lively Sally;
She says she don't expect 'em from that quarter;
"You're fishing for a complement, my girl!"
"No Dick, indeed—not in such shallow water."

A youthful aspirant for epistolary honors wrote the following to his little friend: "Dear Johnny—I thought I would write you a letter. Answer this."

Alfred Jingle's dog is surpassed in New Bedford, where they have a pointer that came to a dead stand still before a door plate bearing this inscription: "A Partridge."

Few men would attempt to dry damp gunpowder in a kitchen stove. A man in Canada did—His afflicted family would be glad of any information as to his whereabouts.

A Subscriber writes to an editor, "I don't want your paper any longer." To which the editor replied, "I wouldn't make it any longer, if you did; its present length suits me very well."

The following is a veritable transcript from the record of a will admitted to probate in the State of New York: "I bequeath my body to the grave, my soul to its maker, and the remainder of my property to my wife."

A man called another an extortioner for suing him. "Why, my friend," replied the man who brought suit, "I did it to oblige." "To oblige me, indeed—how so?" "Why to oblige you to pay me," was the reply.

An exchange relates, that during a cold night a lady acquaintance put her two boys in bed in a cold room, tucked them up and sat down on the edge of the bed to hear them say their prayers.
Johnny aged seven, got through all right and cuddled up to Willie, aged five, who had just commenced to say his prayer. Presently Willie began to hurry, the words came faster than he could distinctly utter them, and the prayer ended; thus: "I pray the Lord my soul to keep—amen—take your hand off from me or I'll warm your ear for you." Johnny was tickling him.

Rosambeau, a French actor of note, was once playing at Anjou, when the curtain rose to a single spectator. The actor stepped forward and addressed the audience: "My dear sir, did you come to see the play, or to see Rosam-beau?" "To see Rosambeau," was the prompt reply. "Well I am Rosambeau.
Don't you think we shall enjoy the evening much better together at a neighboring cafe than if you compel me to play to you, who should be a man of wit, in a piece which a poor one at best and in which contrary to my usual custom, I am only ordinary?" Certainly I do," replied the audience, "for I hurried my dinner to get here in season; we will go and finish it." And they went.

The following questions are proposed for Shakespearean scholars to answer: Did the "books in the running brooks contain flowing sentences?"

If the "three thousand ducats well" of Shylock was an artesian one?

If, when Richard saw "the sun of York" there was any air apparent?

If the "Sermons in stones" weren't hard reading?

If those "who stood upon the order of their going"; at Macbeth's supper did not have to set out without further orders?

What Bonquo "called on" Macbeth for, if there was no speculation in those eyes?

When Richard refused to let the "coffin pass," did he order it up?

Was it waist time when Puck "put a girdle round the earth in forty minutes?"

Was Ariel in the newspaper business when he said "I will be correspondent to command?"

If "Cara keeps his watch in every man's eye," where does he keep his clock?

can be made happy.

COURTSHIP

made easy.

MANHOOD YEARS

made profitable, and

OLD AGE

made comfortable, how to live and be healthy.
Supply your table with the best food, where to dispose of the things you don't want at a first-class author, and one who understands the case in hand to perfection. Meanwhile, if you can't wait for the above to appear in print, call on M. M. ELLIS, at La Cade, and all the above-mentioned points will be fully explained and happily illustrated.

WANTED, AGENTS—$100 to $250 per month, male and female, to introduce the genuine improved MARSHALL SEWING MACHINE. This machine, will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, braid, blind, cord, quilt, and embroider in a most superior manner. Price, only $15, fully licensed and warranted for five years.
We will pay $1,000 for any machine, high price or low, that will sew a stronger, more beautiful or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the ELASTIC LOCK STITCH. Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay Agents $100 to $250 per month, and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made. For circulars and terms, apply to or address,
S. MARSHALL & CO.,
102 Nassau street, New York.

CAUTION.—Do not be imposed upon by other parties traveling through the country claiming of worthless cast-iron machines under the same name or otherwise. Ours is the only genuine and really cheap machine manufactured.

Over three hundred lively stables in the city of New York alone are using the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, in all of which it gives universal satisfaction.

CAUTION.—The genuine is wrapped in fine steel plate engraving with "G. W.
Westbrook, Chemist," and trade mark "MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT," engraved across the face of each wrapper.
The whole bears the proprietor's private United States Revenue Stamp, and not the common "Camp as one by drugists."

Probably few articles have ever had so extensive a sale, while none have been more universally beneficial than the celebrated MEXI-CAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Children, Adults, Horses and Cattle, are all always liable to accident, and it is safe to say, that no family can pass a single season without some kind of liniment being necessary. It becomes a matter of importance then to secure the best.

PIONEER TIN AND STOVE STORE,

Front Street, one Door South of Post Office.

Dallas - - - - - Oregon.

KNOWING THERE IS A MARKED difference between articles of TINWARE manufactured by me, and that made by manufacturers in Portland and other large cities, for shipment, I have on hand both my own make and also that of factory make, so that people may take their choice. My stock consists in part, of

Stoves of all kinds,
Copper, Brass and Iron Ware,
Wire work of all descriptions,
Sheet and Galvanized Iron, Stove Boilers, Tea Kettles,
Milk Pans, Dippers,
Lard and Butter Cans,
Egg Beaters,

Japanned Ware a general Assortment, Cooking Spoons, A variety of Gem Pans, Porcelain lined Stew Pans for Fruit, Broiling Fixtures of New and the Mos Improved Patterns.

And in fact everything that can be found in a first class Tin and Stove Store.
